Dear ,

Thank you for agreeing to provide a home for the horse, _____.” He has served the Buffalo Therapeutic Riding Center (BTRC) well, and we’re happy to know he has a good home with you. Our one stipulation in providing you with this gift is that “_____” remain in your possession and not be rehomed. We also ask that you keep us apprised of his well-being.

The Buffalo Therapeutic Riding Center is not responsible for any mortality or injury to _____ while he is in your care. It is expected that you will always care for the horse in a diligent manner and employ prompt veterinary service in the case of illness or injury. All veterinary services and maintenance shall be at your own expense.

At any time you are unable to care for “_____”, they may be returned to the BTRC.

BTRC must be notified if the said horse must be euthanized.

Sincerely,

Susan B. Schoellkopf
Executive Director
Buffalo Therapeutic Riding Center
