

BOK Ranch

Adoption/Rehoming Policies and Procedures Agreement
Includes Release Forms and Applications

- Purpose: BOK Ranch keeps all horses affiliated with our program through the entirety of their lives. Occasionally, we come across an equine that is not a great match for our environment. When this occurs, the staff at BOK Ranch works diligently to rehome the horse in question. The Horse Adoption Agreement exists to formalize the relationship between BOK Ranch and potential adopters with a primary focus on the welfare of the horse. This agreement outlines the responsibilities and commitments of the adopter, ensuring that the horse will be placed in a safe, nurturing, and supportive environment.

Eligibility Criteria: Qualifications for Potential Horse Adopters Policies and Procedures

To ensure that horses find suitable and loving homes, BOK Ranch has established specific qualifications for potential adopters. These criteria are designed to assess the adopter's experience level, resources, and living situation to guarantee the best possible environment for the horse.

1. Experience Level

- Equestrian Knowledge: Adopters should understand horse care, behavior, and handling. Previous experience with horse ownership or volunteer work at equestrian centers is mandatory.
- Training Abilities: Adopters should either possess knowledge in horse training or be willing to work with a qualified trainer to ensure the horse receives appropriate guidance and support.

2. Financial Resources

- Care Costs: Adopters must demonstrate financial stability to cover the ongoing costs of horse care, including food, veterinary care, farrier services, and equestrian supplies.
- Emergency Fund: Adopters are encouraged to have a contingency fund set aside for unexpected medical expenses or emergencies that may arise.

3. Living Situation

- Adequate Space: Adopters must have adequate space for the horse, including access to a safe and secure barn or shelter, pasture, and riding areas that are appropriate for the horse's size and needs.
- Zoning and Regulations: Adopters are responsible for ensuring that their property is in compliance with local zoning laws and regulations regarding livestock ownership.
- Stable Environment: A peaceful and stable living environment that minimizes stress for the horse is essential. This includes consideration of other animals, children, and overall household dynamics.

4. Commitment to Lifelong Care

- Adopters must demonstrate a commitment to the lifelong care of the horse, understanding that these animals can live for decades and require ongoing attention, training, and companionship.

5. References and Background Check

- Potential adopters may be required to provide references from previous horse-related experiences, veterinary professionals, or equestrian facilities to validate their qualifications and suitability as horse owners.

SITE VISIT/BACKGROUND CRITERIA

Policies and Procedures

1. Preliminary Review

- After submission, BOK Ranch staff will conduct a preliminary review of the application to assess the applicant's background, experience level, and general suitability based on the information provided.

2. Interview

- Selected applicants will be invited for an in-person or virtual interview with BOK Ranch staff. During this meeting, they will discuss the applicant's experience, understand their motivations for adopting a horse, and evaluate their preparedness to meet the needs of the horse.

3. Site Visit

- If the interview is successful, a site visit will be scheduled. BOK Ranch staff will visit the applicant's property to assess the living situation, including safety measures, available space, and overall suitability for the horse. Horses are typically only re-homed in the Northern California area.
- BOK Ranch reserves the right to make scheduled site visits to check on the welfare of any adopted horses throughout the remainder of their lives.

4. Reference Checks

- BOK Ranch may reach out to personal and professional references provided in the application to gain insight into the applicant's character, experience with horses, and their history of animal care.

5. Approval Notification

- Once all the components of the application process have been reviewed, BOK Ranch will notify the applicant of their approval or denial. Approved applicants will move on to the next steps of matching with a horse.

- Adoption Fees: B.O.K. Ranch does not charge for the re-homing of any horses.
- Horse Adoption: Health and Maintenance Requirements

Adopting a horse comes with significant responsibilities to ensure its health and well-being. Below are the key health and maintenance requirements that prospective adopters must be aware of when considering horse ownership:

1. Shelter

- Safe Housing: Horses need secure, dry, and well-ventilated shelter to protect them from adverse weather conditions (such as extreme temperatures, rain, snow, and wind).
- Space: The shelter should provide enough room for the horse to move comfortably, lie down, and escape potential hazards. Adequate space also reduces stress among horses sharing the same area.
- Bedding: Provide appropriate bedding materials (such as straw, shavings, or mats) to ensure comfort and cleanliness inside the shelter.

2. Veterinarian Care

- Regular Check-Ups: Horses should receive regular veterinary check-ups at least once a year to monitor overall health and receive vaccinations as recommended.
- Preventive Health Care: This includes vaccinations for common diseases (such as West Nile virus, EEE/WEE, tetanus, and rabies), deworming protocols, and dental care (horse's teeth should be checked and floated as necessary).
- Medical Attention: Immediate veterinary care should be sought for any signs of illness, injury, or abnormal behavior.

3. Farrier Care

- Regular Hoof Care: Horses require regular hoof care, including trimming and shoeing as necessary, typically every 6 to 8 weeks, depending on the horse's needs, activity level, and hoof growth.
- Healthy Hoof Maintenance: Implement routine inspections to ensure hooves are clean and free of cracks or conditions like thrush.

4. Socialization

- Companionship: Horses are social animals and thrive with companionship, either from other horses or compatible animals. Adopters should ensure that their horse has opportunities for social interaction.
- Daily Interaction: Regular handling and interaction to build trust and connection between the horse and adopter. This includes grooming, exercising, and feeding routines.

5. Emergency Care

- Emergency Plan: Adopters should have a plan in place for emergencies, including contacting a veterinarian, having access to a first-aid kit, and knowing the location and availability of emergency facilities.

- Monitoring for Signs of Distress: Adopters must be vigilant and observant of any changes in behavior or condition that may indicate medical emergencies, such as colic, laminitis, or severe injuries.
- Transport for Emergencies: Ensure access to a suitable trailer or means of transportation to veterinary facilities in case of medical emergency.

BOK Ranch is committed to supporting adopters by providing guidance and resources throughout the adoption process and beyond.

- Return Policy: At BOK Ranch, we prioritize the welfare of our horses and are committed to ensuring that they are placed in caring and responsible homes. To uphold this commitment, we have established the following return policy regarding adopted horses:

1. Return of Horses

- 1st Right of Refusal: If the Adopter decides to re-home the equine, the Adopter must grant BOK Ranch the first right of refusal.

2. Prohibited Actions

- No Selling at Auction: Under no circumstances are adopters permitted to sell or transfer the horse to any auction or slaughter facility. Selling a horse to auction or to slaughter places the animal at significant risk for neglect or inhumane treatment, which is contrary to BOK Ranch's mission and values.

3. Support for Adopters

- Guidance and Resources: BOK Ranch is committed to supporting adopters throughout the duration of ownership and will provide resources and guidance to address challenges that may arise.
- Education Opportunities: We encourage adopters to seek help or advice from BOK Ranch concerning any difficulties they may face regarding horse care before considering a return.

AFTER THE ADOPTION

Ongoing Communication Policies and Procedures

At BOK Ranch, we believe that ongoing communication between the ranch and horse adopters is crucial for the success of the adoption relationship. Our commitment to maintaining open lines of communication ensures that both the horse's well-being and the adopter's experience are consistently supported. Here are the key components of our ongoing communication strategy:

1. Regular Updates

- Check-Ins: BOK Ranch reserves the right to conduct periodic check-ins with adopters to assess how the horse is adjusting to its new home. These check-ins can be scheduled through phone calls, emails, zoom, or in-person visits, depending on preference and availability.
- Health and Behavior Reports: Adopters are encouraged to provide updates on their horse's health, behavior, and progress in training. Sharing positive experiences, challenges, and any changes in the horse's condition helps us maintain a comprehensive understanding of each horse's situation.

2. Support and Resources

- Access to Expertise: Adopters will have ongoing access to BOK Ranch staff and equine professionals for advice, support, and resources related to horse care, training, and management.
- Educational Workshops: BOK Ranch may offer training sessions for adopters to enhance their horsemanship skills and knowledge, ensuring that they are well-equipped to meet the needs of their horse.

3. Community Building

- Adopter Network: BOK Ranch aims to foster a community among adopters where experiences, advice, and support can be shared. This may be facilitated through newsletters, social media groups, or community events organized by the ranch.
- Success Stories: We encourage adopters to share their success stories and experiences to inspire others and promote the importance of responsible horse ownership.

4. Open Door Policy

- Encouraging Questions and Concerns: Adopters should feel comfortable reaching out to BOK Ranch with any questions or concerns regarding their horse. Whether it's about health, behavior, or lifestyle changes, we welcome open dialogue to help address issues proactively.
- Feedback Opportunities: We value feedback from adopters to help us improve our processes and support systems. Sharing insights about the adoption experience is vital for continuous improvement at BOK Ranch.

5. Emergency Communication

- Immediate Issues: In case of emergencies or significant changes in a horse's health or behavior, adopters should contact BOK Ranch immediately for guidance and assistance. Quick communication is essential to ensure the welfare of the horse.

Conclusion

Ongoing communication between BOK Ranch and horse adopters is fundamental in promoting the well-being of each horse and ensuring a successful adoption experience. Our commitment to regular updates, support, and community building reflects our dedication to pairing horses with loving families and providing them with the best care possible throughout their lives.

- Termination of Agreement:

The Horse Adoption Agreement between BOK Ranch and the adopter is designed to promote the welfare of the horse while ensuring a responsible adoption process. While we strive for successful and lasting adoptions, there may be circumstances that necessitate the termination of the agreement. Below are the key components related to the termination of the agreement:

1. Reasons for Termination

- Inability to Care for the Horse: If the adopter is unable to provide for the horse's needs due to personal circumstances, financial hardship, health issues, or any other reason that compromises the horse's welfare, the agreement may be terminated.

- Violation of Agreement Terms: The agreement may also be terminated if the adopter fails to adhere to its terms, including but not limited to:
 - Selling or transferring the horse without granting BOK Ranch the first right of refusal.
 - Neglecting the horse's basic care and welfare or engaging in harmful or unethical treatment.
 - Placing the horse at risk by selling it to auction or slaughter facilities.

2. Process for Termination

- Notification Requirement: In the event the adopter wishes to terminate the agreement or rehome the horse, they must notify BOK Ranch immediately, granting the agreed upon first right of refusal. This can be done via phone or email, with a follow-up in writing whenever possible.

3. Future Considerations

- Potential for Future Adoption: BOK Ranch reserves the right to evaluate the circumstances surrounding the termination before considering future adoption applications from the individual. Factors such as the reason for termination, communication, and adherence to the agreement will be taken into account.
